

Write a PHP script to get the document root directory under which the current script is executing, as defined in the server's configuration file.